LAUDATO SI BOOKSHELF AT CHURCH – NOW UP AND RUNNING!

Do you have any pre-loved Spiritual books you can donate? We have created a free bookshelf in the Church where we can both bring and take books to share. Please bring any spiritual books you have enjoyed – books on Christianity/Theology/Creation/Bible/Religion/Christian books for children/Contemplation/gospel/Prayer/Pilgrimage/Saints/Popes/Worship/Sacraments/Jesus. You can also freely take any books you want to read. Please bring Spiritual books/Christianity/Theology/Creation/Bible/Religion/Saints/Pope/Worship/Sacraments/Jesus/ Please drop any books off to the bookshelf at the back of Church, in the side altar by St Francis and the votive candles.

Next Sunday 7th April, the next 'Laudato Si' Goal that we shall be considering is Ecological Education. This is a rather grand name for learning how to love God, to look after mind, body and soul and our Common Home, to understand our priorities and how they shape our interaction with the world. In our families, parishes, schools and universities, our local community and our natural surroundings, 'ecological education' enables us to translate our learning into habits and behaviour that puts care of God's creation above self-interest. There will be a short meditation on this topic in the Lady Chapel from 9.15 am before morning Mass next Sunday, led by a member of the Laudato Si group. Please come and make use of this time of prayer for all of us to gain insight into how we can work together for God's creation. Everyone is welcome, whether you've been involved with Laudato Si before or not.

Many Thanks, Laudato Si
